

Recruiting participants

We know that recruiting participants for research can sometimes be challenging. That's why Tourettes Action have set up a Research Participant Registry for people willing to be research participants or lay reviewers for Tourettes Action research grants. This forms part of Tourettes Actions Patient and Public Involvement Programme.

Tourettes Action can help your recruitment by sharing your research with our supporters.

How we do this

- by emailing our network of research supporters across the UK (or specific areas)
- by featuring your project on our website and sharing it with our online community
- by putting you in contact with our local groups

What you need to do

We ask that researchers do not approach our local groups directly, instead, please contact Tourettes Action Research Manager Seonaid Anderson at seonaid@tourettes-action.org.uk.

You will be asked to provide:

- full ethical approval or support letter
- patient information sheet and consent form

Read more about how we can help in our Supporting non-financial research document.