

TOURETTES ACTION ANNOUNCES APPOINTMENT OF NEW CEO

Tourettes Action is delighted to announce that its new CEO will be Emma McNally, who will start work on January 31st.

Emma is both a successful business executive and a tireless campaigner in a personal capacity for the needs of people with TS. She is passionate about the cause and has worked tirelessly on improving the access to diagnosis and treatment.

She will bring both her management and her campaigning experience to the role, and we look forward to an exciting period of renewal and growth under her leadership.

Robin Paxton, Chair of Trustees, said:

“We are very excited that Emma will be joining us. She has exactly the skills and the passion that will help take Tourettes Action forward to yet more success.”

Emma McNally said:

“I am thrilled to be appointed as the new CEO of Tourette’s Action and am extremely excited for the future and what we can achieve to benefit all people living with Tourettes.”
