

Webinar

Teacher Training - Primary Tics / Tourettes

Classroom Strategies for working with young people with Tics & Tourettes Syndrome

Tuesday
23rd March 2021
3pm - 5pm

with Dr. Seonaid Anderson
Chartered Research Psychologist and Freelance Neurodiversity Consultant
&
Lucy Toghil, Education Manager at Tourettes Action UK

ADHD Ireland is organising an online event at which Dr Seonaid Anderson will be speaking about school and classroom strategies for tics and Tourette Syndrome.

Seonaid is a chartered research psychologist and freelance neurodiversity consultant with many years experience in neurodevelopmental disorders. She continues to raise awareness of the treatment and management of tic disorders and is passionate about increasing accessing of patients to behavioural therapy and organises training for clinicians and therapists as well as supervision sessions.

Seonaid contributed to the updated European clinical guidelines for the treatment of Tourette syndrome (TS) and she has written widely on the subject as well as producing webinars and podcasts.

The aims of this webinar is:

- To increase understanding of what tics and Tourettes Syndrome (TS) is for school staff
- Raise awareness to the barriers to learning children with tics & TS may experience in school.
- Discuss some strategies that schools/teachers might find helpful to support these children.

If you would like to book a ticket please use the link <https://www.eventbrite.ie/e/teacher-training-primary-classroom-strategies-tics-tourette-syndrome-tickets-137243752759>

Many thanks to ADHD Ireland for organising this event <https://adhdireland.ie/>

Dr Seonaid Anderson

Twitter @Seonaidanderso2

<https://www.neuro-diverse.org/>

contact@neurodiverse.org

<https://www.facebook.com/neurodiverse.org>

<https://www.instagram.com/neurodiverseorg/>